

THOMPSONVILLE, Michigan—Cuatro trabajadores fueron matados y 27 otros fueron lastimados cuando el troque en que iban desde Texas a los campos de Michigan chocó con un tren de mercancías. El troque de dos toneladas (como el de la foto) chocó con el lado del tren a un crucero cerca del pueblo de Thompsonville. Todos los trabajadores fueron tumbados a la tierra cuando ocurrió el accidente.

"Era horrible," dijo un testigo. "Estoy seguro que no podré dormir esta noche. Por la menos diez de los lastimados eran niños."

THOMPSONVILLE, Michigan—Four farm workers were killed and twenty-seven more were hurt when a labor truck, on its way from Texas to the fields of Michigan, hit a fast-moving freight train. The truck, a two-ton stake-body truck (like the one in the picture) hit the side of the train at a crossing. All the workers were thrown out of the truck onto the ground.

"It was terrible," one witness said. "I don't think I'll be able to sleep tonight. At least 10 of them were small children. They were all over the ground when we got there."
